The Summer School
As students around the world have awakened to the empty promise of mainstream economic curricula, the Center for Full Employment and Price Stability (C-FEPS) at the University of Missouri – Kansas City has stepped up to the challenge to offer a summer school program that provides an alternative. The School will provide a rigorous training in both the theoretical and applied aspects of three schools of thought: Post Keynesian, Institutionalist and Feminist Economics. It will also deal with meaningful prescriptive policies relevant to REAL WORLD phenomena and, in the spirit of pluralism, will provide a forum for intellectual discourse that spans a variety of disciplines.

We have previously hosted several Post Keynesian and Institutionalist Graduate Workshops, while this year’s “heterodox” summer school aims to incorporate Institutionalist, Post Keynesian, and Feminist traditions. This new arrangement is motivated by the recognition that, for pedagogical reasons, it is beneficial to expose students to all three approaches and that combining these approaches would encourage collaborative research across the three schools of thought.

The program is being organized by C-FEPS – UMKC, AFEE, AFIT, and IAFEE and will include lectures in the following areas:

1. Methodology
2. History of Thought
3. Pedagogy
4. Micro/Macro issues
5. Policy
6. Theory
7. Empirical Work
8. Other

Admission is open to graduate students and recent Ph.D.'s. C-FEPS has offered to provide a number of scholarships that will cover student tuition fees and room and board.

This year C-FEPS, AFEE, and AFIT will make available a very limited number of competitive travel stipends offered on the basis of merit and need. They will cover only a portion of the costs of travel to and from the workshop.

Summer School Application Procedure:

Applicants should send an email to tchernevap@umkc.edu with:
1) Their CV
2) 1-2 page statement of what each student hopes to get out of the Interdisciplinary Graduate Summer Workshop, and
3) a statement indicating familiarity with heterodox economics.

These materials will serve as the application for both the summer school and for the travel stipends.

Please, send the materials to Pavlina R. Tcherneva at the email below. A committee of representatives from UMKC’s Department of Economics will screen all applicants and notify participants no later than March 31, 2006.

Summer School Application Submission deadline: March 15, 2006
Costs

C-FEPS will offer a number of stipends for Summer School participants, which will cover all breakfasts, lunches and accommodations from Sunday, June 18, to Friday, June 23, 2006 at the brand new UMKC residence hall (checking out on Saturday June 24). In addition, C-FEPS will host one welcome and one farewell dinner, but students should budget for the remaining dinners. C-FEPS, AFEE, and AFIT will also provide very few and highly competitive travel stipends.
